

Welcome

Hi, my name is Jeff Karp, Pharm.D. I am the National Director of Reproductive Health and a certified fertility pharmacist at The Apothecary Shops.

If you have decided or are exploring the option of using an egg donor, I would like to share information with you about our unique Donor-Recipient-Surrogate Medication Program.

Third-party reproductive cycles are complex and require special attention and care. The Apothecary Shops have worked with more than 5,000 recipients, egg donors and third-party coordinators at fertility practices around the country.

Caring, compassion and professional expertise come together at The Apothecary Shops to bring you the best possible fertility pharmacy care in the country. We believe in what we do and would be honored to share our years of knowledge, expertise and exceptional customer service with you.

The Apothecary Shops' Donor-Recipient-Surrogate Medication Program

Coordinated Points Of Care

Dedicated Donor-Recipient Department

Since third-party reproductive cycles are highly individualized, they require a dedicated team of experts. The Apothecary Shops have a donor-recipient department led by a former donor, Jessica Weaver, Certified Pharmacy Technician. Our staff of experts in the field of reproductive pharmacy understand your specific needs and work exclusively with recipients, nurse coordinators and egg donors. The donor-recipient department will coordinate every aspect of your and your donor's medication therapy including offering cost-effective medication programs, insurance verification and convenient scheduling of medication shipments.

Clinical Fertility Pharmacists

Our certified fertility pharmacists are available to answer questions from you and your donor or surrogate, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We provide each donor with our fertility pharmacist's cell phone number so she may contact our pharmacist at any time. The Apothecary Shops' staff provides comprehensive counseling and educational resources regarding the medications. It is important for the donor to feel comfortable and use the medication correctly as donor compliance is crucial to the success of the cycle.

Confidentiality

Confidentiality is one of our highest priorities and is essential to the successful coordination of a cycle. In our years of experience, we have never had a breach of confidentiality.

The Apothecary Shops developed and implemented the following unique safeguards to maintain and protect the anonymity of you and your donor.

- Dedicated pharmacy department solely for donors, recipients and surrogates
- Exclusive phone and fax numbers for donor-recipient use only
- Separate, independent pharmacy software system

Special Pricing On Medications

We recognize that the complexity of third-party cycles creates an increase in costs associated with the cycle. We understand the additional financial burden and have provided special pricing on select medications for both you and your donor.

Expertise & Compassionate Care

Patience, caring, understanding and a genuine desire to help you navigate through the stress of third-party reproduction is what The Apothecary Shops' staff does best. Many of our own staff members have undergone assisted reproductive technologies and have a deep understanding about the needs of couples using an egg donor or a surrogate. You can depend on The Apothecary Shops to answer your questions thoroughly without making you feel rushed or unimportant. We at The Apothecary Shops pledge to exceed your expectations.
